It's a little late but here is a Halloween story.

Jack: Hmm...okay!

Seb: I have never been to a Halloween party.

Stacey: What!

Seb: So, you'll come to my Halloween costume party?

2

Stacey: I like costumes, but I haven't worn one for Halloween before.

Seb: No...

Bill: It's not common where I'm from.

Stacey: Have you never worn a Halloween costume?

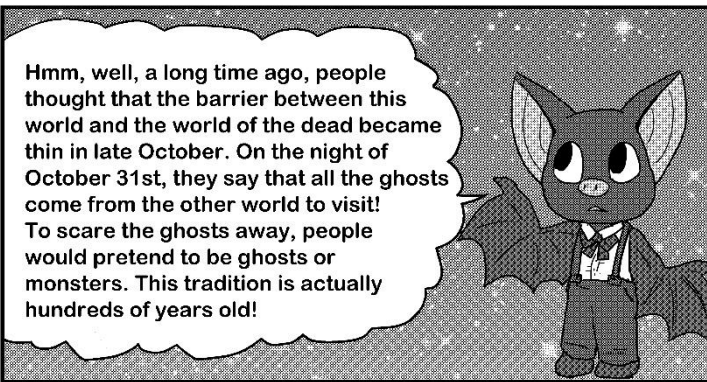

Stacey: Where did this idea come from?

Seb: Dressing up as a 'scary thing' to receive candy?

Seb: Halloween is a strange celebration, isn't it?

Seb: Hmm, well, a long time ago, people thought that the barrier between this world and the world of the dead became thin in late October. On the night of October 31st, they say that all the ghosts come from the other world to visit! To scare the ghosts away, people would pretend to be ghosts or monsters. This tradition is actually hundreds of years old!
